

MyDisclosure™

Creating transparency

It's a legal requirement for all state organisations to ensure that business interests are disclosed. For the private sector, it's good corporate governance to have transparent systems for disclosure of business interests.

What is MyDisclosure?

MyDisclosure is a web-based portal for employees or business partners to electronically disclose their interests. This information is processed in real time and compared with publicly available datasets to identify red flags or potential conflict of interest, with live reports being generated.

Some benefits of MyDisclosure:

- Reduces cost, as there is no manual capturing of completed forms.
- Improved processing time of the disclosure process.
- Easy submission of disclosure from any device with internet access, at any time.
- Secure login with a unique username and password issued to each employee and/or board member.
- Reduces data capture errors.
- Reminder functionality that notifies defaulters that their disclosures are outstanding.
- Increases security through the disclosure information being stored on an encrypted web server.
- Easy integration into existing systems, e.g. human resources, supply chain or financial systems.
- Online support when completing disclosures.

How does MyDisclosure work?

MyDisclosure facilitates the electronic capturing of employee disclosures in an organisation. Upon submission, the information is processed and compared against multiple publicly available datasets to identify red flags.

MyDisclosure provides efficiencies to:

- Enhance transparency.
- Monitor compliance.
- Identify employees or board members within the organisation that have failed to disclose certain information.
- Flag any director/member of a company or close corporation that is directly engaging in economic transactions with the organisation.
- Detect a common business interest with a related director/member of a company or close corporation that may be engaging in economic transactions with the organisation.
- Identify a spouse, common law partner or immediate family member that may be engaging in economic transactions with the organisation.
- Conduct pre-recruitment employment evaluation and screening.
- Enable live reporting.
- Analyse common information.
